EVERYTHING IS REVEALED IN SCULPTED POETRY.

In each stone, a masterpiece is carved. The transformation of the block into the final product is the result of an intense manufacturing process.

Decolores possess a modern industrial park with last generation equipment, providing the market with materials that, in addition to aesthetics, have standardized production lines, making process finishing and product reliability their predominant characteristics.

In each step of the processing, special care is taken to maintain the standard of excellence. The company's dedication to creating unique pieces makes it a reference point in quartzite production in Brazil and worldwide.

MANAGEMENT ALIGNED WITH A MORE SUSTAINABLE FUTURE.

Decolores fulfills its commitment to generating well-being and prosperity for the people, the planet and the businesses through an ESG* journey consisting in a series of initiatives driven by the company Sustainability Policy and carried out transversally throughout the organization.

Valuing the choice for the natural is the trademark of Decolores, which respects the environment by managing the process generated waste and reducing natural resources consumption.

In order to positively influence people's lives and improve their social conditions, the company supports various projects in the areas of education, culture, sport, health and well-being.

Regarding Governance, the company values ethics, transparency and respect to legal compliance prioritizing the relationship with stakeholders who are in line with its values, ensuring a better management of business-related risks.

UNLOCKING NATURE'S SECRETS IS THE WAY TO GO.

In a continuous journey of improvement, research is the pillar that sustains Decolores' excellence in the sector, transforming simple stones into projects that perpetuate nature's essence in every creation.

The meticulous study of stones and their properties is a passion that drives the company to discover the secrets of nature, understanding its composition and features as a source of wisdom. Each discovery made in the Research and Development (R&D) area enriches the company's repertoire, standardizes production processes and allows it to share valuable information with customers and employees.

The synergy between science and design shapes an inspiring trajectory, where each stone becomes a masterpiece, enchanting and raising Decolores' standards.
