EVERYTHING IS REVEALED IN SCULPTED POETRY.

In each stone, a masterpiece is carved. The transformation of the block into the final product is the result of an intense manufacturing process.

Decolores possess a modern industrial park with last generation equipment, providing the market with materials that, in addition to aesthetics, have standardized production lines, making process finishing and product reliability their predominant characteristics.

In each step of the processing, special care is taken to maintain the standard of excellence. The company's dedication to creating unique pieces makes it a reference point in quartzite production in Brazil and worldwide.

OUR COMMITMENT IS TO THE FUTURE

At Decolores, sustainability is an essential part of our identity. Throughout our journey, we have adopted innovative and responsible practices that engage employees, clients, suppliers, and communities. We are proud to transform our purpose of generating well-being and prosperity into concrete actions, whether in the workplace, through business partnerships, or in support of society.

We believe in the power of social transformation and, for this reason, we support projects across Brazil in the areas of education, sports, culture, health, and the environment. Through direct donations, sponsorships via incentive laws, or the supply of materials, we strengthen initiatives that make a real difference, such as Instituto Ponte, Fundação Abrinq, Rochativa, Instituto Anderson Varejão, among others.

We invite you to join us on this journey of sustainability, trusting that together we can go even further in building a better future."

UNLOCKING NATURE'S SECRETS IS THE WAY TO GO.

In a continuous journey of improvement, research is the pillar that sustains Decolores' excellence in the sector, transforming simple stones into projects that perpetuate nature's essence in every creation.

The meticulous study of stones and their properties is a passion that drives the company to discover the secrets of nature, understanding its composition and features as a source of wisdom. Each discovery made in the Research and Development (R&D) area enriches the company's repertoire, standardizes production processes and allows it to share valuable information with customers and employees.

The synergy between science and design shapes an inspiring trajectory, where each stone becomes a masterpiece, enchanting and raising Decolores' standards.
